GOVERNOR FORAKER BELIEVED TO HAVE A WALK-OVER.

is Being Conducted.

One Another in Their Eagerness to Pose as His Friend A .. Still Hunt"

COLUMNUS, OHIO, June 22.—On next Wednesday the Ohio Republicans meet in convention to nominate an important set of State officers, including a sucset of State officers, including a suc-cessor to Governor Foraker. But a few weeks ago there was a score of promi-nent Republicans actively engaged in making a canvass for the Gubernatorial nomination, but since it has become practically understood that Governor Foraker will accept a nomination for a third term the field has thinned out to third term the field has thinned out to such an extent that the only one who remains to contest with him for the honor is Congressman Robert P. Kennedy of Bellefontaine, who is manipulating every available wire to attain success. General Kennedy claims to have obtained Governor Foraker's personal pledge to the effect that he would not be a candidate, and it was on this representation he announced his candirepresentation he announced his candidacy and entered the fight. On this showing General Kennedy and his friends are charging Governor Foraker with double dealing, and much feeling, if not bad blood, has found its way into the canvass.

Governor Foraker's position is that, while he is not a candidate for re-elec-tion, he feels that he is under too great an obligation to refuse to accept anan obligation to refuse to accept another nomination at the hands of his party if called upon. If the Governor had so made himself understood a month ago it is probable that he would have been nominated by acclamation. As it is now he finds himself engaged in a very lively tussle with the Belle to the Contract Contracts. on a very fussic with the Belle fontaine Congressman, and with enough uncertainty attached to render it extremely interesting. All the indications point to his nomination, provided him self and friends insist on it, but the grave question to be settled is whether or not a nomination secured at the ex-pense of Kennedy's defeat in the convention is worth making the effort for. Yesterday's primaries in Hamilton and Franklin counties demonstrate that the Governor's friends do not propose to rely on sentiment altogether, and the delegations from these two large coun-ties are made up of the personal friends of Ohio's Chief Executive. The same is true of the delegations from many other counties, and should the Governor decide at the last moment that he does not care to assume the pres-sure he would be in a position to dictate the nominee. For this reason, and with this very contingency in view the numerous candidates who stepped out of the race to accommo-date the Governor are falling over each other in their eager desire to pose as "the friend of the Governor." It is good logic to suppose that Governor Foraker is so provoked at Kennedy's persistent and formidable candidacy when he (Kennedy) knows the Governor's desires, that he will not permit the Congressman to be nominated. But the "still hunt" aspirants, while they openly frown upon Kennedy's candi-dacy, are giving it a sly lift in the hope of advancing it to such a stage as to put Foraker's nomination out of the question.

At the same time, while singing the praises of Foraker, they are using their friends to point out the danger Foraker's nomination would involve the party in. This complicated state of af-fairs becomes more interesting each day as new names are suggested as compro-mise candidates. As soon as one of the lat-ter class is called to the front he protests that he is not a candidate and c mences to yell lustily for Foraker, thereby expecting to prepare his own shoulders for the reception of the gubernatorial mantle. There is a strong impression, how-ever, that in case the Governor is forced into such a position that he is com-pelled to decline a nomination and name some one for the place, that man will be Asa C. Bushnell, the wealthy Springfield manufacturer. Bushnell has been an enthusiastic and true friend of the Governor's and has made many sacrifices that the Foraker cause might prosper. He has not only contributed most liberally of his amplemeans, but declined honors which, if he had accepted, might have interfered with the plans of the object of his admiration. Bushnell had a sure thing on going to the National Convention last year as one of the delegates at large, but at the last moment declined that the Governor might use the place in carry. Governor might use the place in carry ing out a bit of sentiment he had conceived. This is only one of the many instances in which Bushnell has exhib-ited his loyalty to Foraker. When Bushnell announced to the convention that he desired to withdraw his name as a candidate for delegate to Chicago, the delegates to the State Convention well understood what it meant. They understood what it meant. They cheered him as vigorously as if they had been making a demonstration in favor of a vicor. favor of a victor, and many of the delegates shouted: "We will make you Governor next year."

But, notwithstanding Foraker's obligations to Bushnell, it is thought that he is ready to make the race for Governor for a fourth time. He is of the opinion that his highest aim, the Presidency, can best be attained in this manner. He best be attained in this manner. He might go to the Senate, but the people are not in the habit of going to the upper branch of the National Legislature for Presidents. As a third-term governor of the third State in the Union he thinks he would secure more prestige than as the successor of Senator Payne. He realizes that the fight in Ohio will be warm this year but is Ohio will be warm this year, but is willing to risk his political future on the result; but he does not propose to go into the fight burdened with the cry that he is reaching out for the Senatorship, and in the event of his nomination next Wednesday will announce in his speech accepting the thrice-conferred honor that under no circumstances will he be a candidate for the Senate. is his present programme, but, as before stated, circumstances may cause its re vision before next Wednesday.

The Governor's proclamation on the Senatorial question is not intended to pacify the Kennedy people. He is reaching for the co-operation of ex-Governor Charley Foster, he who is out treating with the Sioux Indians and who has so ably earned the title, "Little-man-with-heap-Tail." If Foster can be tempted with the Senatorial plum and will enter the contest with Foraker with that understanding, the latter feels with that understanding, the latter feels sure that he can succeed. But Foster is devoting all of his attention to the Indian question at the present time and is inclined to allow the Goveenor to work out his own salvation, provided

vision before next Wednesday

There are many other little issues which add interest to the situation, and it is safe to say that the Ohio people have not been so thoroughly entertained for years. While it is all but certain for years. While it is all but certain that ex Congressman Campbell will be the Democratic nomines, yet there is a vigorous warfare being urged on him by the Thurman-Powell wing of the party. Young Al. Thurman's candidacy has suffered a total collapse, Campbell having secured the delegates right here at his own home, and the opposition has not yet been able to find a man who can command enough votes to prevent the Butler pony's nomination. The fate of Thurman has caused Charley He does not care to be pointed out in the future as a candidate for Governor who could not secure the delegates from his own county, and that is just what would happen were he to remain

what would happen were he fo remain on the track.

M. D. Harter of Mansfield, the big free trade manufacturer, was talked of, but the Campbell people have disposed of him by making him the presiding officer of the convention, on which occasion he is expected to wear a muzzle. But the anti-Campbell forces don't give up the fight, and are industriously engaged in scouring the State for a suitable man to pit against him. From present appearances they will be compresent appearances they will be comsuitable man to pit against him. From present appearances they will be compelled to full back on ex-Congressman Larry Neal of Chillicothe, who has been in politics for sometime with indifferent success. He can hardly hope to defeat Campbell's nomination, but the opposition is in for a fight, and it is now too late to back out. On the whole there are few States in the Union that can present so complicated and interest ing political situation as Ohio

Mrs. Haun was Miss Maggie E. Gaines, the handsome daughter of Wm. F. Gaines of Rockingham County, and married Wm. Haun February 12 last. The siffiction falls with double force upon the aged father, Heury Haun. In 1873 Mr. Haun's eldest son, Frank, was murdered and robbed in Washington, near the B. & P. depot, by a negro afterward caught in Alexandria and hanged. His father is one of the principal cattle dealers in the valley, and is well known in Baltimore and Washington.

Stephen Hodge, an agod colored man, was killed Saturday night by Benjamin Lawson, a farmer who lives near Upper Mariboro, Md. The colored people there are very indignant about the murder, and claim that it was in every way unprovoked and of a most brutal character. Lawson gave himself up after the crime.

Lawson was sent to jall. Last evening the ox-cart containing the body of the murdered man arrived in town. It was taken to his house by a crowd of fully fifty colored men. When the body reached the house the walling of the old man's family could be heard all olesses of citizens regard it a brutal crime.
